MEXICAN GIRL MAKER OF SMALLEST DOLLS
Isabel Belansaran Designs and Constructs by Hand the Finest in the World.
Called 'Queen of the Needle'

This is the story of Isabel Belansaran, maker of the smallest dolls in the world, who is the quaintest figure in Mexico's quaintest town, Cuernavaca, as told by Russell Hastings Millward in a communication to the National Geographic Society.
"This little girl is called 'Queen of the Needle,'" writes Millward. "The natives of the village will tell you that no cleverer Mexican Indian maiden has ever been known. The diminutive dolls she makes, both in point of construction and design, are the most remarkable in the world."
The operation of making consists in forming a tiny framework of wire barely three-fourths of an inch in length and winding it with many turns of silk thread. After the frame has been properly formed, it is ready for dressing. The clothing is cut according to the character of the doll and fitted carefully about the small figure. The most difficult work, that of embroidering, is then begun. With a needle that can scarcely be held in the fingers and the finest of silk threads, various designs are actually embroidered on the clothing, and so cleverly in the work of construction and details of the design appear to be perfect. After dressing the figures it is necessary to add the hair, and what is undoubtedly an example of the tiniest and most marvelous hair dressing known is then performed on each doll. The eyes, nose, mouth, hands, and feet are then formed and the doll is ready to be placed on a shelf in the village shop.
"On account of their daintiness, ex-

BEST SELLERS' DEATH APPEAL

Mrs. Van Valkenburgh Raps Three of Them Before Convention
CRITICISES LIBRARIANS
Books, Not Machinery of Profession, Should Be Their Greatest Worry, She Asserts.
Popular modern fiction was severely criticized before the American Library Association's convention yesterday afternoon by Miss Agnes Van Valkenburgh, of the Public Library School, of New York City. Reading from three current novels, she called the fad of brunettes and which she said distinguishes some of the best sellers.
As a preface Miss Van Valkenburgh rapped the convention for "reluctant the book itself to the background, while giving discussing such minor matters as binding and cataloging, shelving and advertising."
"In short," she said, "the machinery of our profession usurps the place which the book itself should occupy in our program."
After directing attention to the fact that two "so-called immortal books" were published serially in reputable magazines, which she declared thereby substantially increased their circulation for the last forty-eight hours were in conference with the mediators for nearly two hours this afternoon.
When the conference adjourned Justice Lamar said: "There is not a word that I can say to the newspaper correspondents. Heretofore I have been authorized to give you nothing, but I regret that I must remain silent."

Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, the American delegates who have kept in almost constant communication with the White House and the State Department by telegraph for the last forty-eight hours were in conference with the mediators for nearly two hours this afternoon.
When the conference adjourned Justice Lamar said: "There is not a word that I can say to the newspaper correspondents. Heretofore I have been authorized to give you nothing, but I regret that I must remain silent."

CARRANZA TELLS AGENT HE MUST BE RECOGNIZED
Durango, Mexico, May 29.—Gen. Carranza, first chief of the constitutionalists, today expressed his determination to lay down the law to the United States and Mexico, occasioned by the arrest of several American sailors by soldiers of Gen. Huerta. Carranza, who is in the United States, said he would not recognize the government of the United States, and would not accept of any good offices, inviting us to appoint delegates who would represent the general assembly of the constitutional army which is under my orders.
"I answered that in principle I would accept your good offices and afterward, in a separate article, Carranza said that he would not recognize the government of the United States, and would not accept of any good offices, inviting us to appoint delegates who would represent the general assembly of the constitutional army which is under my orders."

LAWYER PROTESTS TAX BOARD IS NOT LEGAL
Daniel W. O'Donoghue, following Ruling in Kalbfuss Case, Objects to Assessment.
Daniel W. O'Donoghue yesterday took exception to the rate his property had been assessed by protesting against the legality of the board of assessors. This comes virtually as an attack of the constitutionality of the board's workings, following the ruling of the Court of Appeals that Samuel Kalbfuss was illegally removed from office as assistant assessor. Mr. O'Donoghue entered an appeal yesterday to Tax Assessor William P. Richards. Mr. Richards maintains the work of the assessors cannot be successfully challenged.
Whether or not any dissatisfied property owners are planning to carry the matter to the courts has not as yet been learned.

WIN BALL GAME

Down Metropolitan Clubmen by the Score of 12 to 0.
ERRORS RAN HIGH
Proceeds of Annual Contest Donated to Fund for Free Wards of Providence Hospital.
A sweet thing is charity, and reputed to cover a multitude of sins, but there wasn't enough charity in town to cover the baseball sins enacted at American League Park yesterday afternoon, by teams representing the Metropolitan and Chevy Chase Clubs, when charity was the alibi for the game.
It was the general opinion of those present, including the scoreboard man, that Chevy Chase, in its efforts to make the most weird baseball ever inflicted, Preston Gibson, who was a Yale uniform, and who is said to have once played for the Yankees, played with a form, being touched up for eight or ten hits which netted twelve runs.
A Redemptive Feature.
The free ward in Providence Hospital got the money, which is one of the redeeming features of the contest. Everything has been arranged to make the affair look like a real ball game. The Marine Band, seven policemen, and a lot of baseball paraphernalia had been sent to the park to beguile the afternoon and the spectators. However, the spirit of charity being rampant, the game started off something like this:
Preston Gibson, with a B.S. ball, a sweater and a prayer, stood in the center of the diamond for the Metropolitan Club.
Pitching for the doughty athletes of the Chevy Chase clan, stood Myron M. Parker, Jr., wearing an urbane smile and a flesh-colored jersey. The record shows that Parker, who is a Yale man, obliged by taking first. Capt. Parker, however, grunted his teeth at this juncture, and sent nine strikes across the plate to one-third of his batter, and Mr. de Sibour was left marooned at the third station.
Church Played First.
A pleasant game named Church essayed the first attempt at Capt. Gibson's shots. The boxes were taken and the gayly dressed society women—who, as some one remarked—looked more like they were groomed for a ball than a ball game—applauded and cheered in a lady-like manner when their husbands and admirers took their places on the diamond. Murray Cobb has lost some of his speed. He sauntered nonchalantly after the ball.
Preston Gibson, captain of the Metropolitan team and pitcher, and Randall Hagner who played second base, did some splendid work that showed indefatigable practice.
Courtwright Church caused more real suffering for the spectators than the loss of any heavy hits, that may have been done. He did look so warm and mopped his brow so continuously on his shirt sleeve that some one offered him a handkerchief.
If the game had been a little faster it might have acted as a good reducer to the more portly of the grandstand, but it was the opinion of the grandstand that they took more weight on waiting for the chance to exercise it off.
The Chevy Chase players were split in the week's wash. The Metropolitan Club team wore uniforms that were white at one time.
The House of de Sibour was well represented. Young de Sibour caught for the Metropolitan club, and he, with Gib-

REBEL CHIEF PUTS FEW QUESTIONS TO MEDIATORS
New York, May 29.—The American this morning will say "Juan P. Urquide, secretary of the general assembly of Carranza, carried a message of interrogation.
The note, addressed to Ambassador de Gama, of Brazil, in substance, has said: "As the representative of four-fifths of the people of Mexico, I respectfully make a few inquiries of your honorable body. What are you doing to help Carranza, the Mexican people, the great majority of which is not represented?
"What has happened since you began your sessions at Mexico City?
"How can you have arrived at any basis of adjustment, which you are ready to place before President Wilson and Huerta, according to the published reports?
"You have never heard our side. How can you reach a basis for settling anything between Carranza and Huerta without information from our side?
"When I go into the Mexican capital, as I shall soon do, I shall be glad to present any proposals that Carranza's problems and future guidance. Your reply is honorably awaited."

CHILDREN WILL HOLD PROHIBITION RALLIES
Sunday Schools and W. C. T. U. to Give Programs at Two Churches Tomorrow.
Sunday school children of Washington will gather tomorrow afternoon and evening to give their annual prohibition for District prohibition. The programs will be participated in by the W. C. T. U.

THE BOXES WERE FILLED AND SCORE WAS BIG, AND SOCIETY CALLED GAME A SUCCESS
Washington's Exclusive Set Well Represented at Game Between Clubmen.
By MILDRED DILLON.
Because the score was big and the boxes all filled, the society women at the Chevy Chase-Metropolitan baseball game yesterday, pronounced it a great success.
It was a polite crowd who occupied the boxes and the grandstand—there was not a single epithet hurled at the players. Every one remained calm, even when Filson took a nap on the bag and had to be called to catch a ball; they seemed to think it was all a part of the great national game.
The boxes were all taken and the gayly dressed society women—who, as some one remarked—looked more like they were groomed for a ball than a ball game—applauded and cheered in a lady-like manner when their husbands and admirers took their places on the diamond. Murray Cobb has lost some of his speed. He sauntered nonchalantly after the ball.

B. & O. SITUATION HELD PRECARIOUS
Baltimore and Ohio was due to the fact that the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton had at one time bought its own preferred stock.
Mr. Willard gave a detailed account of how the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company took over the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton after the Erie Railroad Company had practically taken it over, but after examination of its contracts and obligations, the company had rejected it, apparently because of the objection of the late E. H. Harriman.
SENATE FAILS TO ACT ON NORRIS RESOLUTION
The Senate talked for two hours yesterday on a resolution introduced by Senator Norris, of Nebraska, calling on the Attorney General for information as to whether the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad had been operating on the Sherman anti-trust law as a result of its acquisition of other lines of railroad.
Senator Norris produced correspondence showing that he had brought the New York Central situation to the attention of the Attorney General more than a year ago, and that officer intimated that his department was "investigating the whole general subject of unlawful railway combinations."
Senator Weeks asked Mr. Norris why he could not broaden his resolution to include other railroad systems of the country, such as the Southern, Louisville and Nashville, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and others, all of which had acquired other railroad properties since the passage of the Sherman law.
The Senator from Nebraska replied that some Senators were objecting because his resolution was not definite enough and specific in its charges and suggested that Mr. Weeks desired to broaden the inquiry, there was nothing to prevent him from introducing a resolution to that effect.
The resolution went over "without prejudice" at the request of Senator Norris, and will come up again Monday.

TWO WOMEN AND BOY BURNED
Three persons were burned yesterday afternoon during a fire which did $100 damage at 1115 Tenth street northwest. Mrs. Fannie Grane, who is striking a match, accidentally set fire to a mattress. Mrs. Louis Lane, who also lives at the same house, joined with Mrs. Grane in attempting to extinguish the flames. Mrs. Lane's clothing ignited. The fire also spread to the clothing of Forick, the seven-year-old son of Mrs. Lane.
The two women and boy were burned on the face and body, but not seriously. Mrs. Lane was removed to Homoeopathic Hospital, and the child to Emergency,

AFTER MISS LATHROP'S SCALP.
Renewed Attempt by Senators to Remove Her Is Rumored.
A certain element in Congress which has several times tried to effect the removal of Miss Julia Lathrop from the headship of the Children's Bureau, is now planning a more direct attack, it is rumored. It is said that a Senator will offer an amendment to the legislative appropriation bill as soon as it is introduced, providing that the chief and assistant chief of the bureau shall be "experts in child study," and further, that supervisory officers of the bureau who investigate infant mortality and children's diseases, shall have had a medical training.
Those said to be prepared to support the amendment, say the sole object is to put in charge persons with medical training. Friends of Miss Lathrop declare it is an overt attempt to get rid of her. Defeat is already predicted for the amendment. If it comes up, several efforts to get rid of Miss Lathrop have been defeated by large majorities.
Mother's Friend Before Baby Arrives
During several weeks of expectancy there is a splendid external embrocation in our "Mother's Friend," in which thousands of women have the most unbounded confidence. They have used it and know. They tell of its wonderful effects. It has been used by mothers who have had abdominal muscles and how they avoided those dreaded stretching pains that are so much talked about. This safe external application is gently used over the skin to render it amenable to the natural stretching which it undergoes. The threads just beneath the skin is thus relieved of unnecessary pain-producing pressure. Great physical relief is the result expressed by a host of happy mothers who write from experience. It is a subject that all women should be familiar with as "Mother's Friend" has been in use many years, and is recommended by grandmothers who in their earlier days learned to rely upon this splendid aid to women.
You can obtain "Mother's Friend" at almost any drug store, or write for a booklet to-day and then write for our little book so useful to expectant mothers. Address: Bradford Regulator Co., 812 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

CONCORAN ART PUPILS ARE AWARDED MEDALS
Miss Felicie Waldo Howell Wins Top Honors and Gets Two Trophies.
E. C. MESSER MAKES ADDRESS
A large gathering of art lovers attended the presentation of medals, diplomas and certificates at the Concoran Art Gallery last night.
Of the class of 1915, Miss Felicie Waldo Howell won first honors by obtaining the silver medal in the still life class and the silver medal in the draped life class. F. P. WOMAN INJURED IN CHURCH
A water heater exploded in Epiphany Church, G street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, last night, and freshments were being served to more than 100 persons, and several who were in the kitchen at the time narrowly escaped serious injury. One young woman was seriously injured.
The Junior Auxiliary of the church had given an entertainment and ice cream and strawberries were being served from the kitchen. The crowd was in the hall on the same floor. When the janitor applied a match to heat an explosion that shook the building and which was heard for several blocks around.
The explosion caused considerable havoc with the remnants of refreshments and several persons were all but knocked down. People ran from the building. Several policemen heard the explosion and ran into the edifice. The ambulance was called from Emergency Hospital and a physician put a few stitches in the scalp of the only person injured.
It is believed that the explosion was caused by gas accumulating in the hood of the apparatus. The property damage is slight. It was stated that it was not the first time the same heater had exploded.
